Article in TOKYO ASAKI Newspaper, Nov 1942:

Invincible Tanks

With these iron wheels, we shall trample the Allied encampments. These tanks, modelled on all that is known to science, have just been built. Just look at its gallant structure, which seems as if it would begin moving, in defiance, at any moment. They will eventually be shipped out to annihilate the Allied Forces. This JAP tank, with the gallantness and bravery manifested in the beauty of its linear and circular construction, and with the lightness and speed suggested by its /appearance of/ maneuverability, will undoubtedly smash the Allied Forces. This weapon, into which the ordnance experts have their utmost efforts, has the "JAPANESE Spirit."
